

I strongly oppose any extortion Viacom attempts to use against the FCC in order to protect their own interests which are contrary to the public's interest. If they abstain from broadcasting high definition because of it, then let them.